To Whom It May Concern,

I have had the pleasure of working with Brian Frazier and his team on two different projects. Both projects were handled in a very professional manner. Brian would do a walk through on each project and listen to what I needed. He would then send me a quote to review and followed up with a call to see if I had any questions. The quote always fell in my budget because of his thoroughness during the walk through.

I have to hand it to Brian, he is a hands on type of guy. I saw him out there with his team getting his hands dirty. I was really impressed with the detail that they put into the installation to prevent future problems like sealing the conduits. You can tell the quality of a technical team by how they work when the leader is not around. They never missed a stroke when Brian was not there. The team was highly knowledgeable and did an excellent job training me on the use of the equipment.

If you are a client looking for a professional company for a project then get Brian and his team to do the job. I am a firm believer that you get what you pay for and I got my monies worth in professional people, equipment and installation.

Sincerely,

Randy R. Cuevas
President
